

Lynn Coveyduck

Maximizer | Input | Strategic | Learner | Arranger

My graduating year from Beaconsfield High School included the annual grad trip to Europe which I know stoked my sense of adventure. We covered about 8 countries in (max) 14 days travelling by plane, train, and ferry. There were lots of laughs and memories made, especially due to the “adult” supervisors we had with us – Mr. O’Rourke and Mary Anne Bindner.

After graduating and finishing CEGEP, I was off to France for a year, and subsequently spent university work terms in Fredericton, Toronto, and Edmonton before finding home in Halifax. That didn’t stop that sense of adventure though as I continued to travel, including taking an MBA through Duke University with placements in Dubai, New Delhi, St. Petersburg, London, Shanghai, and Beijing. Most recently I completed the 800 km Camino Frances. Thanks to BHS for helping me learn to pack light, keep my eyes open, and always say yes to new adventures.

Currently, I’m the Director of Operations for Sandpiper Ventures. Among the first all-woman GP funds in Canada, Sandpiper Ventures invests in Canadian women* entrepreneurs who bring diverse perspectives and unique insights leading to more creative solutions to complex global and industry challenges and potential for superior financial returns. We are empowering women to solve the big problems in the Future of Work and Education, Environment and Communities, and Health and Wellness. We support all people identifying as women including non-binary, 2SLGBTQIA+.